YOUR BUSINESS, COVID RESTRICTIONS, AND THE LAW

The Common Law Commonwealth of Australia Constitution Act 1901 is, and has been since Federation, the Supreme Law of the land, despite the political parties many attempts to circumvent the Constitution by changing enacting Acts.

The only way the Commonwealth of Australia Constitution Act 1901 may be amended is by a Referendum of all eligible members of the Commonwealth of Australia – that is, all Australians of voting age. (See Constitution Section 128). Section 109 states, “When a law of a State is inconsistent with a law of the Commonwealth, the latter shall prevail, and the former shall, to the extent of the inconsistency, be invalid.”

In 1946 Australians voted in a referendum that asked if we would authorize the Federal government to provide, among other things, medical or dental procedures.

Here is what the referendum asked, and the voting result:

Referendum 1946 CONSTITUTION ALTERATION (SOCIAL SERVICES) 1946

Question 1.

Do you approve of the proposed law for the Alteration of the Constitution, entitled Constitution Alteration (Social Services) 1946?

Q1. The referendum was carried.

All six States recorded a YES vote. Nationally 54.39% of electors voted YES

CONSTITUTION ALTERATION (SOCIAL SERVICES) 1946 SOCIAL SERVICES

New paragraph to be added to section 51 of the Constitution:

(xxiiiA) the provision of maternity allowances, widows' pensions, child endowment, unemployment, pharmaceutical, sickness and hospital benefits, medical and dental services (but not so as to authorize any form of civil conscription), benefits to students and family allowances;

The question was approved, but with a condition: medical and dental services (but not so as to authorize any form of civil conscription)

This means that the People of the Commonwealth of Australia denied the Federal and State governments any power to force people to undergo any medical or dental procedure without their consent. Therefore, all forced mask wearing, forced vaccinations, travel restrictions, and other procedures the political party State Governments have imposed are not valid laws... they are merely mandates, and a mandate is not a law.

Common Law and the Commonwealth of Australia Act 1901 Constitution guarantee the right of citizens to go about their lawful business unhindered by the police or anyone else as long as you are not suspected of committing a crime. Common Law is the highest law in the land and therefore all State laws must be consistent with our Common Law Commonwealth of Australia Constitution Act 1901..

The State Acts that the police rely on to justify forcing people to stay home, wear masks, submit to mandatory vaccinations, limit travel, etc., are inconsistent with the common law of the Commonwealth, and that makes them invalid.

You do not have to consent!

Therefore, you are authorized by the:

Sunshine Coast Common Law Assembly Bylaw No. A-010202018001A to immediately cease obeying any and all Covid restrictions

Steps to take to return to normalcy include taking down personal distancing notices; barriers at checkouts and other areas; opening up areas of your premises closed due to Covid restrictions, including children's play areas; repositioning tables and chairs in restaurants, bars, clubs and entertainment venues to spacing normally employed before the Covid restrictions, requiring registration details before allowing entry into your premises, and any other restrictions you may have been forced to observe.

You may continue, should you wish, to provide hand sanitizers, but you may not restrict entrance to your premises if people refuse to sanitize their hands.

All State borders are hereby ordered open, and police may not stop free travel between States or on any public roads or other forms of transport.

You are hereby authorized by a Common Law Assembly to print out the Bylaw pages and post them at the entrance to your business premises to assure people that you are complying with the Bylaw, and to warn the police or government enforcers that they are not authorized to enforce any Covid restrictions on you or your business premises.

If a business is harassed by the police or government enforcers, tell them you are under the protection of the Commonwealth of Australia Constitution Act 1901 Section 51(xxiiiA) which allows the government to provide medical services, but not so as to conscript (force) anyone. Ask them to produce the Federal LAW mandating Covid restrictions. If they cannot do that, they have no authority and you can tell them to leave or be prosecuted for Trespass. Stand your ground and do not back down. We are the supreme authority and they are public servants.
